

Dear Site Services Partner,

What we do

yip supplies pre-constructed cabinetry, flooring and related building products to support smoother delivery on site. We manage sourcing, logistics, quality control and compliance, helping reduce admin burden and making projects easier to coordinate from specification through to handover.

Our approach is built to reduce job complexity. With stronger upstream preparation, dependable delivery standards and clearer handovers, we help create better working conditions for the site services partners involved in completing the broader works around the projects we supply into.

We are standards-led in how we approach quality, specification and partner support. Our products are regularly tested locally through our NATA-accredited laboratory partner, and our minimum standards are built into the way we work.

Why work with yip

Site services covers aligned trades and supporting services that help projects move more smoothly through delivery and reduce avoidable complexity on site. As examples, this includes site measure up, cabinetry, flooring, and plantation shutter installation, labour hire support, demolition and specialist trade work. The right partners for yip are practical, reliable and capable of delivering their part of the broader works around a successful project.

We want to work with site services partners who value a well-run job and a strong customer outcome. That means access to better-prepared jobs, clearer coordination and a supply partner that understands how much time and margin can be lost to avoidable site complexity. It also means qualified leads, repeat business opportunities and projects supported by stronger delivery standards from the outset.

Where there is a fit, we see this as an ongoing relationship. Our aim is to build a trusted network of site services partners we can work with over time, support properly and introduce into the right opportunities.
